CROSBY S. NOYES..... THE EVENING STAR has a regular and permanent circulation in Washington three times larger than that of any other paper in the city. As a local NEWS paper and Advertising Medium it has no competitor.

Very properly and with commendable promptness the Senate insisted on knowing the precise condition of affairs in the basement of its end of the Capitol. If the plumbing is defective the truth should be known, so that valuable lives be not endangered or abbreviated. But while legislators are so anxious in their own behalf would it not be well for them to remember that thousands of government employes toil daily in places where the commonest hygienic laws are violated-not by the employe, but by the government? Let Senators who are so deeply interested in the preservation of senatorial life spend a few hours in the old Ford's Theater building-a disease-breeding pen in which men are compelled to labor; where the government is manufacturing blindness for hundreds of eyes. Let them make a "slumming' tour of the overcrowded Patent Office or, if they want to experience discomfort of a particularly perilous kind, let them inspect that death-trap called the Government Printing Office, in which two thousand five hundred men and women strive for their daily bread and in which they will continue to strive so long as an inch of red tape is available or until the ramshackle structure falls or burns to the ground. Every possible safeguard should be thrown around the physical wellbeing of most of our legislators, but let the legislators remember that the untimely death of one clerk or one printer is more prolific of real misery than the decease of any well-to-do public man.

The principle of restriction has triumphed, so far as the House committee on rules is concerned, over the policy of obstruction, as THE STAR expected it would. The difference between what the committee regard as legitimate restriction and that which they hold to be tyrannical is a difference between power in the Speaker through the rules and power invested in the Speaker and his two democratic colleagues on the committee on rules. One thing is clear-the new rules provide for expediting business. It makes small difference whether the will of three men or the will of one man is to check the filibustering. The democrats in the Fifty-first Congress "swearing they never would consent," the democrats of the Fifty-second Congress have actually "consented." This may not furnish conclusive evidence that everything done under the Reed rules was right, but it does show that the leading democrats in Congress think that there is a saving principle in those rules of the last Congress, and in this opinion the republic generally, which is extremely tired of how-not-to-do-it exhibitions by its legislature, heartily agrees with them.

The democratic national convention will meet In Chicago on the 21st of June. It seems that, although the lake city was not an open competitor for the honor with the many smaller cities of the northwest, it was not unwilling to accept it at the hands of the party leaders. No doubt the influence of a convention place on the party's fortunes in an election is overdrawn. But whatever such influence may be worth to the democrats they secure it, they think, just as well in the larger as they would in any of the smaller cities of the northwest. The suitableness of Chicago on the grounds of accommodation for the convention. of accessibility to the public, of fulness of communication, seem to have been the prevailing considerations. Both conventions meet in the same section in the same month. They will align the two great parties before the world, and will in all probability add an important leaf to the history of American politics.

Every now and then some humane person writes to The Stan describing some shocking case of cruelty to children or to animals and asking whether there is a humane society in Washington, and if so, why it does not prevent or punish such cases. There is a humane so ciety in Washington, which, as its statistics show, has accomplished a great deal in the prevention as well as in the punishment of cruelty to children and animals, and which would accomplish a great deal more if it had the active co-operation of all who sympathize with its purposes. All humane people have an opportunity now to aid humane work most effectively by urging the enactment by Congress of the by urging the enactment by Congress of the bill introduced by Senator McMillan and Representative Cogswell (S. 1714, H. 4273) to mend the holes in existing humane laws discovered in actual trials in the Police Court.

+1+ There is much material for thought in the portions of an interview with the Chilean minister, printed in yesterday's STAR. It will be enough for the present to direct attention to Mr. Montt's statement that the Chilean newspapers of December 7 contained no references to the possibility of war with the United States. This is reassuring. It may indicate that Chile is content with the slaughter of a few American sailors and does not thirst for the gore of our entire nation. That the Chilean government did not expect trouble with the United States is neither strange nor surprising. This country has allowed itself to be snubbed so long that any other conclusion would be illogical. Had the murdered seamen been British or French or German why of course Chile would have looked for trouble. But they were only Americans.

The death of Mr. Justice Bradley remove from the beach of the United States Supreme Court one who was regarded by many as perhaps its most intellectual member since the de cease of Justice Miller. There is no doubt of the fact that Judge Bradley impressed the bar and the observant public as few men now on the federal judiciary have done for great learning and wonderful acumen.

The District is glad that temporary Senator Gibson is made permanent and joins heartily in the general congratulations. Mr. Gibson has always taken an intelligent interest in District affairs and will render valuable service as a member of the Senate District committee. M. Constans calmly informs M. Laur, whose face he slapped, that he will not fight, as he has been kept waiting too long. It seems that it is good form in the French style of dueling to come early and avoid the rush.

Nobody can blame the dear girls for petitioning the President not to advise war with Chile. Even in these peaceful times there are Commander Evans should open a correspondence bureau. His communications are short, to the point, and widely appreciated.

There is small fear that Madam Chicago's hospitality will be overtaxed, although she is having a great deal of company this year.

Chicago's water famine doesn't make the elightest difference in her availability for convention purposes.

Mr. Quay will probably have a halo before he gets through with his legal contests. Possibly Chile is waiting to see how small an apology will be accepted,

SARS AND COMPANY.

SAES' SATURDAY SHOPPING LIST.

LL this week we have been growing up to a grand climax. Lots of the a special sales we are running now stop short tomorrow night when we close. Both the Clething sales "come under the wire" then. There is bound to be a rush at the end. You must make haste in making your selection. For your own sakes be as early in the day as possible. This Saturday is a "money-making" day for you, sure.

SARS AND COMPANY. THE "KING-PIN" OF 'EM ALL

$14 SUIT SALE. Nobody needs an introduction to the values in our $25, $24, $23, $22 and $20 grades of Suits. They're known. It's a common remark—"You can get as good a suit at Saks' READY-MADE-as you can have made to measure anywhere. These are the suits. There are about three hundred of them at $14 left for tomorrow's buying. They don't merit praise in any one particu-lar—they are perfect through and through. With one of them on you are dressed as well as anybody can be. Whether you want a SINGLE-BREASTED SACK—a DOUBLE-BEEASTED SACK-or a THREE or FOUR-BUTTON CUTAWAY—these rich qualities at this poor price will melt the want. "Meliow"-or pronounced designs-all original-all neat-all handsome. OUR OWN MAKE. Tomorrow is the last day of the sale!

steps temerrow night, too. Cold weather has kept this sale company-and that's made the OVERCOATS doubly buyable. The Suits too. Both are $18, $16.50, $15 and $13.50 qualities. They're in all styles—"sound as a nut." Price has got a poor hold on them. But you must do your part. There's no time left to stand on ceremony. You don't need to think it over. If you can put either a SUIT or an OVERCOAT "to work"-buy it. $10.80 till tomorrow night. We made them—that is our guarantee of their merit. We are "sticklers" for nt-you never had a better one than we can give you n this $10.80 sale.

BRING THE CHILDREN.

TTTHE mate makes all the difference in the world in the comfort and satisfaction of GLOVES. You want a pair of GLOVES you can feel "at home" in-as if your hand belong there. It is all in the cut. Revnier's, Trefousse's, Aug. Charles', P. Centemeri's, Perrin's, Foster's and Balsan's are that kind. They never make a mistake. Their work is always their reference.

We never turn our back on merit-we are not tied down into any "rut." But these seven are without equals. One or another of them perfectly suit our trade. That is why we stick to them.

They are sending the noveltles along thick and fast. First in fashion-first in quality.

The very newest is a DEMI-GAUNTLET
FRENCH KID GLOVE—for street wear, of course—in LIGHT MODE and TAN—
